ROGERS GROUP
WEB SERVICES

Rogers Group is excited to announce our web services offering. This solution is an added service to allow customers to access ticket data on-demand, anytime! There is no self-registration - simply access this feature through API credentials given by RGI

Key Benefits of RGI Web Services Include:

- Immediate access to ticket data, such as material type, quantities, weights, and ticket creation times
- Enhanced operational efficiency through improved job site coordination, reduced downtime, and proactive issue resolution
- Seamless integration with customer systems - our web services can integrate directly into customers' ERP, logistics, or project management platforms. Through the automatic flow of data, human error is reduced and information is always up to date
- Better financial and project management by tracking costs, improved billing processes by automating invoice creation, and maintaining audit trails
- Data for Strategic Insights - customers can use historical and real-time data to analyze trends, forecast needs, and plan more effectively by identifying trends

Please contact rgilinksupport@rogersgroupinc.com for inquiries. You can also access documentation regarding our web services via the following link: https://api.rgilink.com